Reuther Eases Tensions in Labor Probe

UAW Chief Criticizes Violence Reported In Kohler Dispute

WASHINGTON (P) — Walter Reuther's criticism of strike violence, involving his United Auto Workers eased tensions today as Senate rackets probes called him back for questioning.

"We made mistakes," Reuther told the special Senate investigating committee, "but the record shows that we are trying to find our shortcomings."

Advanced predictions of sharp clashes between Reuther and Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who have been feuding for years at long range, did not materialize.

Reuther disarmed questioners in a surprise move when he conceded that some of his union's members did engage in "improper" violence and mass picketing in the UAW's bitter, four-year-old strike against the Kohler Co. in Wisconsin.

Reuther said this violated UAW policy and that he personally abhors violence, because he has experienced it at the hands of "company goons" himself.

HIS TESTIMONY was a change of pace from that of prior UAW witnesses, who had defended their conduct through nearly five weeks of the hearings.

Reuther charged that the violence was provoked by what he called "illegal" conduct by the company, but he said it "hurt our union no end" and that he does not defend it.

Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) credited Reuther's testimony with the idea for a new approach to seeking settlement of strikes — the creation by Congress of a federal "court of inquiry" to look into issues in long-drawn strikes. Ives said he may introduce legislation to set up such a system.

Reuther had told the committee that President Eisenhower "ought to create a federal fact-finding board" to look into the Kohler strike issues and focus public attention on them until those in the hearing must give ground.

Dem Leaders Seeking OK On Roads Bill

WASHINGTON (P) — Democratic congressional leaders pushed today for quick action on the highway construction speedup bill to get it to President Eisenhower's desk next week.

The Senate passed the big anti-recession measure 84-4 and immediately asked for a speedy conference with the House on it.

The bill would pour an additional $1.8 billion in federal-state funds into the nation's roadbuilding program this year.

It would make available $5.5 billion over-all for the roadbuilding program this year, although much of the actual spending would come later. Passage of the bill is expected to provide 88,000 new jobs this year, and its sponsors say more than 500,000 eventually may be added.

The measure also for the first time would set up federal incentives to the states to regular billboards along the 41,000-mile superhighway network — the interstate system.

The house version of the legislation, passed two weeks ago, is much less broad than the Senate bill. It does not contain any of the increased or speeded-up allotments of the Senate bill, and does not deal with billboards.

Expanded Idle Pay Setup Under Committee's Study

WASHINGTON (P) — House Democrats opened the door today to consideration of emergency unemployment compensation benefits going far beyond proposals sent to Congress by President Eisenhower.

As the House Ways and Means Committee began three days of hearings on expanded federal unemployment insurance program, and other types of unemployment not now covered.

This would apply mainly to farm workers, employees of little firms exempted from the federal-state unemployment insurance program, and other types of employment not now covered.

Of the 5,200,000 estimated unemployed in mid-February, about two

Cancer Expert Dies a Little When Disease Takes a Child

BOSTON (P) — This gracious, graying doctor dies a bit with every child who does of cancer.

"Not a day goes by but what I have to speak to parents who have lost a child. Sometimes it may be five parents in a single day."

But now and then there are heartening victories...

"He was 12 years old when he first came to us in 1948. He had cancer of the intestines. He was the first patient we ever gave aminopterin (an antivitamin drug designed to hit cancers) for this kind of tumor.

"Today he's in the National Guard, a big healthy guy standing 6 feet 4 inches. We kept him on the drug for eight years. Then we had a soul-searching meeting trying to decide if it was safe to quit giving him the drug. Everything we do in this field is a new frontier."

Airmen Eye 'Dyna-Soar' Manned Moon

WASHINGTON (P) — The Air Force is studying industry proposals for a soaring satellite to be capable of carrying a man through space and returning him safely to earth.

The long-range project has been named "Dyna-Soar," from the words "dynamic soaring." Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt, deputy chief of staff for Air Force development, told about it before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

The Air Force did not name the firms submitting proposals for the project.

The Dyna-Soar ship would be launched in the manner of satellites. By varying the power of the original boost from the earth's surface, the velocity could be increased or decreased. Built-in controls would enable the pilot of the vehicle to make from one to several orbits of the earth before completing his mission.

Gen. Putt said that the objective of the Dyna-Soar program was to develop a "military weapon system" capable of operating both as a high-altitude aircraft and as a manned orbital weapon.

Breazeale could and did, feeling pretty good about the whole affair.

When he returned to his car there was another surprise awaiting him: A ticket for overtime parking.

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (P) —

Maybe tomorrow we'll have success, National Guardsmen say as they continue the search for the bodies of seven children drowned in the Big Sandy River.

One month ago today a school bus loaded with 47 children and their driver careened into the river. Twenty-six youngsters are the driver drowned. Twenty-one others escaped from the nation's worst disaster involving children.

Small boats have plied the river as far downstream as Catlettsburg where the Big Sandy flows into the Ohio River.

Col. Lee Duvall, commander of the 100 guardsmen still at the scene, said some of the bodies may have been swept into the Ohio, and may never be found.

James B. Goble, who lost all three of his children, still is searching daily for the bodies of two of the children, James and Anna Laura.

Gorman Sees Danger in O'Neill Policy

JAMILTON (Pa.) — Robert N. Gorman, Cincinnati candidate for the Democratic nomination for Ohio governor, said today that Gov. C. William O'Neill's "appointment of 'secretaries' to fill various posts can and will lead to dictatorship in Ohio."

In a political speech prepared for a Butler County audience, Gorman added:

"This is not mere quibbling or reciting of spooks to frighten the voters. It is a very dangerous trend that Gov. O'Neill himself has written into the record."

"The statutes of Ohio specifically state that the governor shall appoint a director of highways who shall serve at the governor's pleasure. Such appointment is to be confirmed by the Ohio Senate."

All Hands Hope Like Right about U. S. Recession

Some Signs Are Found
That Current Slump
May Be Near Bottom

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — All hands are anxious to believe that President Eisenhower is right in saying we may be seeing the worst of the recession right now.

That things are worse today than they were just a short time back is easy to prove. Just ask any of the five to six million persons out of work, if you doubt it.

That the bottom is near or at hand isn't easy to prove yet. The statistics or that are still to come.

That the economy in general will get impressively better soon is difficult for many persons to foresee—it calls rather for an act of faith.

But a few signs that the slump is nearing bottom—frail as they may later prove to be—can be found.

While most barometers of business still point to stormy weather, a few respected ones are wavering toward the fair side.

The one most businessmen greet with the greatest cheer today is the report from Cleveland by the National Machine Tool Builders Assn. that new orders may top those in February, when they rose 18 per cent above January and 23 per cent above December. The final 1957 month saw orders sink to an eight year low.

They are still 61 per cent behind last year's figure, but the pickup conceivably could spell the end in the long decline in an industry whose up and down swings often foretell those of the general economy's pendulum.

Another indicator of business thinking and planning are bank loans to business. For some time they have been weak. But the latest figures show a rise of more than one half billion dollars.

Some industries haven't felt the slump. Life insurance sales continue to rise. The drug and tobacco companies continue to prosper. So does the beverage industry. The food industry as a whole looks for increased sales and profit this year. The travel industry has high hopes.

And amongst the reports of more layoffs in industry can be found a few announcements of workers being recalled.

This may not be the bottom of the dive—but we can hope can't we?

Rigid Company Rule On Employees Chided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three youthful "rocket scientists" were injured here Thursday when their home-made missile exploded as they began to fuel it with kitchen match-heads.

Injured were Phillip Lee Sheridan, 14, Neil Collins Jr., 13, and Michael Burns Jr., 13.

Sheridan lost the tips of his left index and middle fingers. He was reported in fair condition at St. Anthony Hospital. Burns and Collins were struck in the hands by metal fragments. They were treated and released.

Police said the boys reported they had fired their eight-inch rocket earlier Thursday but it was not 100 per cent successful so they decided to try again.

The explosion occurred when Sheridan started to tamp down the match-heads into a pipe. It happened in the basement of his home.

Boy, 8, 4 City Aides Stuck in Muddy Pond

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Slyman wandered across the street from his home in Broadview Heights Thursday, as 8-year-olds will, and in no time at all he was up to his waist in mud in a partly dried-up pond.

Before they got him out, three firemen and Police Chief Alex Klokka of the suburb likewise became stuck in the mud.

After an hour's struggle, the rescuers got John and themselves out on solid ground.

Fall in Jail Is Fatal

DAYTON (AP) — Charles Franklin Martin, 52, of Dayton, died Thursday night in Miami Valley Hospital of injuries received a few hours earlier when police said he fell in city jail.

"MY DOCTOR . . ."

This possessive phrase is familiar to all. It represents the profound confidence American people have in physicians. But do you really have a family physician?

Even though you may have been fortunate, not requiring medical care, it is still in-time wisdom to establish a "family doctor" relationship.

Simply contact the physician of your choice, requesting that you would like him to serve your family should the need arise.

And if such a need arises, our prescription department is prepared to serve you and your family.

Judge Understands Race Against Stork

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Luther B. Little whizzed his taxi toward the hospital along busy streets so fast last week that even pursuing traffic officers feared to follow at such a pace.

In the back seat of the cab was Mrs. Grace Ida Hillard. A few minutes after she arrived at the hospital she gave birth to twins.

With Mrs. Hillard at his side, Little went into court. He admitted he might not have had his cab completely under control.

Judge Ray Grimaldi gave Little a stern lecture about safe driving — then smiled. He said he once had made it to the hospital with only six minutes to spare when he was outrunning the stork in

Hesitation over a 'Summit' Conference

During recent weeks there has been a great amount of publicity through the press, television and radio, relative to a so-called "summit" conference between major powers, supposedly for limited disarmament.

The United States has been reluctant to hold such a conference with Russia's leaders until there has been a clearcut understanding that such a meeting should have a pre-arranged program set up by representative officials of various governments involved, which would bring out in the open, with some chance for a successful internal outcome, on various questions which need understanding and a positive agreement, especially where Soviet powers are concerned.

American leadership does not want such a conference merely for use by Russia as a propaganda outburst.

The evidence is mounting that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are being pushed toward a top level conference by forces possibly too strong to resist.

The Soviet Union has been pressing for such a meeting with more and more persistence. The pressure is being applied to our European allies, some of whom have urged us to agree to such talks. In fact some of our allies insisted at the December NATO meeting that we consider such a conference as a condition to their accepting American missile protection for the defense of Europe.

While events seem to point to a meeting in early summer or fall, the scope of the discussions is as much in controversy as ever. The Russians want to talk about such things as suspension of nuclear tests, a ban on missile bases in West Germany and Central Europe, and a multi-lateral non-aggression pact. They refuse to discuss the status of the satellite countries, contending that the future of such countries is a purely internal affair.

There is other evidence that Russia also only wants to discuss certain things which could be favorable to her and which by no means would prove decisive steps toward eliminating her "world domination" ideas.

As a matter of fact there is hesitation by America and some others, because they do not even trust Russia's present leadership's word, if an agreement could be reached.

If a "summit" conference does come about it is the hope of this country that substantial agreement on all issues may be reached, not merely a move to gain world favor for Russia by pretense of being sincere and then her failing to stand by any worthwhile agreement achieved.

Ralph Beauty -- Exiled!

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Beauty Marble Candy has gone away. Ralph Beauty Marble Candy is never coming back.

In a woman's world, Ralph Beauty Marble Candy made the greatest possible masculine mistake. He mauled a young lady, the big bully. And so he has been exiled from civilization.

He has been sent back to the suburbs, where he was born, where his crude frontier ways are more in style.

Ralph Beauty Marble Candy, who lasted less than two weeks in the big city, came here as the answer to a maiden's prayer. The maiden was our daughter, Tracy, nearly 5, who has been dictating notes of protest to Santa Claus ever since Christmas because he didn't bring her a kitten.

Finally, Frances, my wife, heard about Ralph Beauty Marble Candy. He lived with a suburban family that had two cats. Ralph Beauty fought the other cat. One had to go. It was put to a vote by the children of the family. Unanimously, they voted to keep the other cat.

So it was that Ralph Beauty, left homeless by popular demand, was brought to our house — strictly on trial — and given a chance to redeem himself in town.

"Is this a kitty?" asked Tracy dubiously as Ralph Beauty, who looks more like a dwarf lion, stepped from his carrying case.

But she threw her arms around him. She loves all animals passionately, and would have embraced him even if he were a real lion. Ralph Beauty thought the situation over deliberately for a full tenth of a second — then calmly scratched her, and stroked off.

"Remember, he's just here on loan," cautioned Frances. "If he scratches you, he'll have to go back."

This was like telling a child not to stick beans up its nose. Tracy couldn't stay away from Ralph Beauty, and he couldn't get away from her. She was too young; he was too old; he scratched her less each day, but he still did scratch some. Tracy loyally tried to hide the scratches, shield him from blame.

But there came a day when Frances announced firmly: "I'm not going to let him turn Tracy into a human scratching post."

Besides all he does is eat, eat eat — and listens to you read poetry."

Back into his carrying case went Ralph Beauty Marble Candy — out into the suburbs to join another family of gamblers.

"Goodby, honey-honey," whispered Tracy, giving him a final squeeze.

Approach to Coexistence

Prof. Calvin B. Hoover of Duke University hit the bullseye when he defined coexistence:

"We have become accustomed to thinking of a policy of coexistence with Soviet Russia as the opposite of our present foreign policy. In fact it is paradoxical to present a policy of coexistence as an alternative to our present foreign policy. We have, of course, been coexisting with the Soviet regime for the 40 years of its life."

"Indeed we may well ask ourselves how we could possibly have carried on a foreign policy which would have afforded an alternative to coexistence. The historical answer is that the alternative to the coexistence of governments has been annihilation of the one or the other. For almost the first time in history the alternatives to coexistence now includes the annihilation of both."

Actually, every people coexists or even exists without the exception, with every other people whether they like it or not unless one of them has been exterminated. And usually even if a country moves from first place to tenth or is conquered by another people in war, the people still exist.

For instance, Poland is now, more or less, a province of Soviet Russia, but the Polish people still exist and with characteristic stiff-necked resistance to total absorption by Soviet Russia as is evidenced by the successful battle which is being waged in that country for the survival of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Russians give a special meaning, however, to the term coexistence. They do not mean that nations or people continue to live together in a narrowing world.

What they do mean is that varying systems of life continue to thrive and grow simultaneously. Some early Marxists did not believe that possible.

It all comes down to the fact that, willy-nilly, we have to live with the Russians, an unpleasant as it may be. We have had 40 years of the unpleasantness and are, as a matter of fact, learning how.

For one thing, we are learning that it is unnecessary for the Russians to tell the truth or to live up to an agreement or to keep a bargain.

When one knows by long experience that that is the situation, he finds a mechanism for getting along. For instance, this summit conference business.

It is becoming increasingly obvious from statements made by Khrushchev and Bulganin that they do not want any kind of a summit conference. It has been clear to Secretary of State Dulles that the talk about the conference is a hoax and a fraud designed to achieve some other purpose.

The genius of living with the Russians is to be able to discover what the primary purpose is. That is not an easy task. My own opinion, which I will not too enthusiastically back, is that the primary purpose is to develop a public opinion in Great Britain which will be exceedingly unfavorable to the United States. Others believe that the campaign is aimed at West Germany. Still others are looking for a clue in the Middle East.

The reason that I assume that this campaign for the summit conference has nothing to do with the summit conference but is designed to deteriorate Anglo-American relations is because precisely that is occurring — not only Anglo-American relations but also American-Canadian relations which, in most respects, are at their very worst.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Persistent rumors have been afloat recently that the super-free-way which is scheduled to pass through Fayette County is to be located within a short distance north of Washington C. H.

However the fact remains that engineers have been making surveys of the highways scheduled for main interchange roads, and other State Highway Department workers have been checking traffic for several days on the Danville Rd., Route 38 (Bloomington-Midway Rd.) and other roads in northern Fayette County which would be crossed by the new freeway.

Arabs and Jews both live in the city, Pastor M. V. Campbell, president of the Adventist Southern European Division, has said, declaring: "there is a need for Christian work there."

Part of the funds received from all Adventist Churches will be used to begin mission work in French Guinea in West Africa and the Central African country of Ubangi Shari.

Adventists currently conduct mission activity in 185 of the world's countries.

Pic-Fay Garden Club Discusses

Future Projects at March Meeting

Future projects were discussed by 20 members of the Pic-Fay Garden Club when they assembled in the New Holland home of Mrs. Merton Toolie for their March meeting. Mrs. Clifford Hughes was the assisting hostess.

WSCS Meeting Held Wednesday

Miss Blanche Roberts was hostess for the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Staunton Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Carl Self, vice president, conducted the business session, during which it was announced that two books on birds were purchased by a committee and presented to the New Holland elementary school.

It was also announced that the Pic-Fay Club will be in charge of registration at the regional meeting to be held on April 30.

Mrs. T. C. Gooley and Mrs. Floyd James were named on the flower committee for the New Holland Methodist Church in April.

"Spring Is Coming" was the program topic. Mrs. N. B. Fannin, program leader, read a poem entitled "March" and a paper on "All American Selections," in which she listed the 1958 winners. The Maytime petunia headed the list as the all-time favorite. Mrs. Fannin also brought out that spring is the time of nature's awakening.

Mrs. Glenn Grimes gave several garden reminders for spring. Mrs. Irvin Yeoman presented a paper entitled "Spring Care of Roses," in which she stated that mulch should not be removed from roses until the danger of frost is past.

The new shoots could easily be nipped by the frost, she said.

Mrs. Glenn Robinson won the prize in a contest led by Mrs. Fannin.

The flower arrangement for the month, entitled "Sudden It's Spring," was by Mrs. Kenneth Grabb. For a springtime effect she used jonquils and pussy willows.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Toolie, and co-hostess, Mrs. Hughes.

Mrs. Ned Abbott and daughter, and Mrs. Allen Toolie were guests.

Mrs. Lamb closed the program with prayer.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Orville Bush.

Delicious refreshments were served by Miss Roberts, assisted by Mrs. Sylvia Atkinson, to 12 members and three guests, Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. John Leland and Mrs. Galena Engle.

Pace of Recession in Ohio Slowing, But Turning Point Not Reached Yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The pace of recession slowed considerably in Ohio during March but the turning point has not yet been reached. Predictions that the latter part of this month would see the beginning of the hoped-for "spring pickup" have proven premature, a state-wide Associated Press survey shows.

There also is little likelihood that recovery when it does start will be rapid. A U.S. Labor Department survey of Ohio employers indicates that the state's volume of more than 200,000 unemployed will decrease by less than two per cent by mid-May.

Retail sales across the state have slumped from 5 to 15 per cent compared with last year's pre-Easter volume. Auto and appliance sales have suffered the deepest declines.

The earliest recovery probably will be made in non-manufacturing businesses—retail trades, transportation, home building and other construction.

The outlook for steel, rubber, autos and other heavy manufacturing is for only slight recovery by mid-May. In some places the situation may continue to worsen.

The rate of increase in unemployment dropped sharply during the month as seasonal employment began to pick up and the state's major industrial employers made fewer layoffs.

Continuing unemployment compensation claims, which increased an average of 10,000 a week during January and February, slowed to an average increase of 1,000 per week in March. The number of continuing claims stood at 205,456 on March 1 as compared with 208,694 on March 22.

Here is a rundown of the situation in some of the state's major industrial areas:

AKRON—Unemployment continued to raise but at a much slower pace. A total of 9,018 persons in the area were drawing unemployment benefits at the start of the month. The total now is slightly over 9,700. There is not much prospect of a quick recovery in tires and rubber products.

CANTON - MASSILLON — Republic Steel Corp's Massillon plant closed March 4. Other steel and auto plants in the area are working reduced hours. Unemployment estimated at 12,000 in Stark County, more than double a year ago. No sign yet of a recovery.

CINCINNATI—The situation appears stabilized. Unemployment declined slightly during March. The number of persons drawing unemployment benefits dropped from 18,000 to 17,000 during the month. Department store sales registered good gains after dropping precipitously during February.

PORTSMOUTH—Recession never really hit here. There have been no layoffs in the key industries—DuPont film plant, General Electric Corp. fluorescent tube plant and Lincoln Molded Plastics. Unemployment is still less than during the 1950 recession.

CLEVELAND — A real sore spot. An estimated 70,000 unemployed. No sign of a pickup in the near future in steel, auto and aircraft parts plants. Jones and Laughlin Steel plant recently shut down for three months to facilitate completion of a new addition. It employs 3,000. Retail sales are running five per cent below last year's.

COLUMBUS — Situation appears to have leveled off. No major layoffs this month. The number of persons in Franklin County drawing unemployment benefits declined slightly from 8,873 on March 1 to less than 8,500. A pickup in construction is expected to offset a further decline in aircraft and aircraft parts manufacture. Retail sales down about 7 per cent from a year ago.

EAST LIVERPOOL—A pottery center, plants here have cut back production 30 to 50 per cent. Crucible Steel at nearby Midland, Pa., has laid off 2,500 of its 6,400 employees. No sign of recovery yet.

MARION—Situation improving. Unemployment claims have been slowly dropping from a Jan. 11 peak of 1,789. Marion Power Shovel reached the limit of its layoffs last December and has since hired about 300 of the 550 persons it furloughed. Huber-Warco Co.'s employment is up 50 per cent since Christmas. The Marion Division of Whirlpool Corp. has remained static since laying off 170 last January.

NEARLY—More than 1,600 unemployed in Newark and Licking County. Little prospect of a quick recovery. The Ohio Axle and Gear Division of the Rockwell Corp., which has laid off more than 1,000 of its 3,000 workers, laid off an additional 246 workers this month. Kaiser Aluminum has laid off approximately 25 per cent of its 1,600-man work force.

BERKELEY, Calif. — Two University of California students ended a marathon "teeter-totter" stunt Thursday night and claimed a new world record of 150 hours. But they were too tired to attend a dinner in their honor.

"We're going straight to bed and sleep for a week," said Val Peterson, 21, Santa Maria, Calif.

He and Jeff Snows, 18, Santa Monica, Calif., had been going up and down steadily since 4 p.m. Friday.

The old record of 148 hours was set by two other California students last April.

Peterson and Snows were drenched by rain squalls and exposed to wind and cold. Fellow students fed them.

They took a five-minute break each hour.

Labor Surplus Up In 4 Ohio Areas

WASHINGTON — Unemployment continues to inch upward with claims for unemployment benefits in the area climbing from 3,399 on March 1 to over 3,800 toward the end of the month.

YOUNGSTOWN — The state's largest steel producing area has approximately 25,000 of its 120,000-man work force unemployed. Basic steel which employs about half the area's work force has cut back production 52 per cent. No immediate prospect for recovery. Retail sales were off 12 per cent in January and February.

TOLEDO—The downward trend in employment has slowed, but has not yet stopped, in this community which is tied closely to the fortunes of the auto industry.

From January to mid-March, employment in non-agricultural jobs dropped from 184,000 to 178,700.

However, estimated unemployment has dropped from 20,000 to 18,000 primarily because of movement of workers to other areas.

This is particularly true of non-manufacturing areas having substantial labor surpluses but it did report there were two such areas in Ohio.

Only 102 Cases Now Pending In Common Pleas Court Here

Fayette County's Common Pleas Court was one of only 15 in the state in which there were fewer than 100 cases pending on Feb. 1 of this year, the monthly report by John W. McMillin, administrative assistant to the Ohio Supreme Court showed.

However, the court docket here went over the 100 mark during February despite the termination of 15 by Judge John P. Case during the month, because 19 new cases were filed. As of Feb. 28, the report showed, there were 102 cases pending in the court here, compared to 98 at the start of the month.

Judge Case cleaned up the docket considerably late last year when after serving notice on the attorneys, he dismissed 23 cases for lack of prosecution. Most of those dismissed were of long standing.

Fewest cases, only 35, were pending on Feb. 28 in Fulton County (Wauseon) in the northwest corner of the state. Heaviest docket was in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) where 13,207 cases were pending.

Cases pending in adjoining counties Feb. 28 were: Greene 474; Ross 555; Pickaway 242; Highland 139; Clinton 102; Madison 108.

OF THE 65 CASES pending in the second district Court of Appeals on Feb. 1, 12 were from Fayette County. There were still 12 on Feb. 28, because none was filed during the month and none was decided by the court.

Although Fayette County is one of the smallest in the second district only two had more cases (both 14) pending on Feb. 1. None had more pending on Feb. 28 and only Montgomery County, the largest in population in the district, had as many—12.

Counties in the second district of the Court of Appeals, the number of cases pending Feb. 1, cases filed in February, cases disposed of in February and cases pending on

O'Neill Handed Responsibility In SUB Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill alone is responsible for holding up payment of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB), says the Ohio CIO Council.

"He should not attempt to shift the blame to someone else," the council declared.

The "someone else" presumably refers to James R. Tichenor, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC).

O'Neill said Wednesday and again Thursday that it was Tichenor who ruled it illegal to pay SUB and state unemployment compensation simultaneously. O'Neill said Tichenor was appointed by a former governor (Frank J. Lausche) and that he (O'Neill) cannot overrule Tichenor or remove him from office except for cause.

Tichenor's decision recently was reversed by a Mahoning County Common Pleas Court. The state is appealing the court ruling.

In a statement Thursday, the CIO council said:

"It was the governor who overruled his chief legal advisor, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, and ordered the legal action which is blocking payment of SUB to the jobless."

It was the governor, and the governor alone, who disregarded Saxbe's advice that the unemployed be allowed to receive SUB while the decision was being appealed through the courts. It was the governor alone who ordered the action which is denying SUB to the state's unemployed."

Tichenor has said he believes SUB payments are "contrary to Ohio unemployment compensation statutes." He claims the Mahoning County court does not have jurisdiction in the case.

120,000 Ohio Families Due To Feel REA Interest Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House is sponsoring a plan to raise interest rates on loans to REA co-ops. If put into law, it might hit the pocketbooks of 120,000 Ohio farm families who buy from REA electricities.

Stated simply, the plan would allow private lenders, such as banks, to participate for the first time in the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) program. Only the government is permitted to make loans now to REA co-ops.

Sponsors, from President Eisenhower down, say banks and others should be permitted to loan money to REA co-ops to broaden the source of financing in a time of growing electricity needs in rural areas.

In addition, they point out that the current interest rate to REA co-ops is 2 per cent, considerably less than the going rate of 3 1/4 per cent the government must pay to borrow money.

But the opponents—and there are many in Congress, particularly from rural areas—don't buy this at all.

They call this a plan to help the money lenders and the private utilities in their competition with REA co-ops. They say it could only lead to jacked-up electricity bills for REA customers.

Refreshments were served by Karen Newman, Jackie Pope and Judy Garinger.

Karen Newman, reporter

When it started in 1935, only 18.8 per cent of Ohio farms, according to REA, had electricity. Today 97.4 per cent of them have it, and about 70 per cent of them buy from REA co-ops.

A dispute on the REA interest hike proposal developed just the other day during proceedings of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture.

Democrat Jamie Whitten of Mississippi, the chairman, was questioning Kenneth L. Scott, director of the Agricultural Credit Service.

Whitten figured the REA loan rates—if the Eisenhower administration has its way—would go up from 2 to 3 1/2 per cent.

"Frankly, after looking this matter over myself, I cannot see that it would benefit anybody except the money lenders," Whitten told Scott.

New Jersey did not have its own governor until 1738. Before that, the governor of New York governed both British colonies.

"It is quite apparent on its face that it would result in higher costs to REA cooperatives and, as a result, to the consumers in the REA system."

Scott remonstrated with Whitten on this.

"I do not know to what extent this might involve a rate increase to the consumers," he said.

"A great many of these electric systems have operating margins that would permit them to pay this (interest rate) on their borrowed funds and still not have to adjust the rate upward."

The big question on all this, of course, is whether Congress will do anything about the proposal.

Scott suggested the answer to this when he pointed out that nobody in Congress has even introduced the legislation.

In short, it would seem highly doubtful that the plan is going anywhere at all—this year.

Combined Rites Due

COLUMBUS (AP)—Combined services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Miller Funeral Home, Gallipolis, for six victims of a fire which destroyed the James George home here Wednesday.

Killed in the fire were George's children, James Larry, 12, Barbara Ellen, 11, Glenn, 7, and Mrs. Betty George Gallagher, 25; and Mrs. Gallagher's two children, Deborah, 3, and Jimmy, 2.

WCH Dumps Co. I; Troubles Next

The Washington C. H. Independents moved into the semi-finals of the Williamsport Invitational Tourney, Thursday night—but it will take all their effort to go any further.

The Washington C. H. squad whipped Circleville National Guard Company I Thursday, 76-63, in a fairly clear-cut game, which gave them a semi-final shot at the rough, tough Jennings Co. squad from Pick Way County. The Jennings team, built like the WCH squad, partly with college material, would be a tough enough match anyway in the semi-finals Saturday.

But it will be made even tougher by the fact the Washington C. H. crew will have to work with just about half a team. Some five boys—including Jack Harner, Wilmington scoring ace—will be called away from the WCH lineup for one reason or another Saturday.

Those remaining will be good boys in every case—Charlie Cox and the rest of the Independents.

“We haven’t quit yet though,” Campbell, the manager, commented Friday morning.

WITH GOOD reason, too, after the performance against Company I Thursday. The Independents jumped off to a 22-5 lead, got tangled up in the middle, but came through in fine style before the end of the game, cleanly upsetting the other first-round winner.

The final score, significant as it was, was not as hefty as some in the middle of the second half.

Cox and Milstead (both of whom will be playing Saturday) scored 20 points each for the Independents, and Harner scored 18. Dick English came through for nine.

Downes and Lemley led scoring Company I, with 16 points each.

THE JENNINGS Co. squad, set to face the Lions in the semi-finals, had an even easier time with River Oil, unimpressive first-round victory over Hallsville. The final margin was 76-52, and interim margins had the Jennings team as far as 25 points ahead during the game. Jennings and the Independents meet at 8 p.m. Saturday in the second of two semi-finals.

Meeting in the first of the two games will be Ashville and the Heiskill Realtors, Williamsport team sponsoring the tourney. The Realtors have wins over Deller Creek and Atlanta to their credit so far, while Ashville has beaten Clarksburg and Top Hat.

Clarksburg couldn’t do a thing with Ashville Thursday night, and Ashville, like the Jennings Co., had a better evening than even the final score shows. The Ashville squad led from start to finish.

Ashville—Realtors game is set for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Finals are set for Monday night, with Saturday’s winners playing a championship game at 8 p.m. and Saturday’s losers playing a consolation match at 7 p.m. Teams will be recognized for placing first, second and third in the tournament.

The solution may rest with an unheralded rookie, Billy Moran, on the roster of the Tribe’s San Diego farm club.

Bragan decided to shift veteran Bobby Avila to third and let some of the newcomers try second. Moran got first crack and proved a successful surprise.

Eyebrows were lifted at Billy’s batting average last year in the Pacific Coast League—.211.

But, Moran hit like a demon in opening games.

As of now, the Tribe infield consists of Wertz at first, Chico Carrasquel at short, Avila at third and rookie Moran helping make the double play at second.

Outfield talent, strengthened by the minos acquisition, includes Woodling, Rocky Colavito, Roger Maris and Dick Williams.

And best bets to help Score and Lemon are big mike Garcia, Ray Narleski, Don Mossi, Cal McLish and Dick Tomanek, among the regulars.

most blinded by a line drive, and Lemon had his worst season in many a year because of an ailing elbow.

Now both are back with the Tribe, apparently in good health, which is why the club’s new manager, Bobby Bragan, says:

“We won 76 virtually without them so it figures we’ll win more.”

The Indians finished only a game behind Baltimore and missed the first division by only a game and one-half.

Lemon had the arm operated on and feels it will be all right.

“We’ll take it easy with him for sometime,” said the admiring Bragan.

Bragan says his gravest problem is at second base.

Bobby feels he has big power in Minnie Minoso, Gene Woodling, Vic Wertz and Mickey Vernon. He likes his catching corps, headed by Russ Nixon, and the pitching could rival the years when Cleveland boasted no less than four 20-game winners.

“But we have to make that double play. This hurt Cleveland last year.”

“I don’t think I’ve set my sights too high,” said Robinson. “I consider my first two years as sort of a trial period. I had a real good first year in home runs. In my second year I did all right in the batting average department. Now I’m ready to put both departments together. If I do, the third department, the RBIs, will come automatically.”

Robinson won almost unanimous acclaim as the National League’s rookie-of-the-year in 1956 when he slammed 38 home runs and hit a solid .290. He hurled the so-called “sophomore jinx” in 1957 by raising his batting average 32 points to .322, hitting 29 home runs. If there was anything disappointing about Robinson’s second year in the majors, it was his comparative low RBI total of 73.

“I didn’t drive in as many runs as I should have,” admitted the young outfielder. “I was a little too anxious with men on bases. The pitchers were making me hit their pitch. They knew me for a first ball hitter and with men on base they were giving me their best pitch and I went for it. I know I left a lot of men on base. This year it will be different.”

Redleg Star Draws Praise

Robinson ‘Nominated’ For NL Triple Crown

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Frank Robinson, bulked up by two banner seasons in the major leagues, predicted a whopping third year today which, if achieved, could bring him the National League’s coveted triple crown.

The 22-year-old slugger, who has succeeded Ted Kluszewski as Cincinnati’s top attraction, has set three goals for himself. He wants to hit between .340 and .350, 40 home runs and drive in 125 runs.

That’s a huge order even for a Stan Musial or a Henry Aaron. Musial’s .351 paced the National League batters last season and Aaron captured the home runs title with 44 and RBI crown with 132.

“I don’t think I’ve set my sights too high,” said Robinson. “I consider my first two years as sort of a trial period. I had a real good first year in home runs. In my second year I did all right in the batting average department. Now I’m ready to put both departments together. If I do, the third department, the RBIs, will come automatically.”

Cincy Tries To Keep Pro Cage Franchise

CINCINNATI (AP)—A group of Cincinnati businessmen, with the apparent blessing of the president of the National Basketball Assn., will try to keep the pro basketball Cincinnati Royals here.

Leo and Jack Harrison, owners of the Royals, have agreed to sell the team to Norman Shapiro of Rochester, N. Y., for a reported $200,000 and agreement to retain Les Harrison as a team consultant. Shapiro wants to move the team back to Rochester, its home port until a switch to Cincinnati for the 1957-1958 season.

Tom Grace, vice president of Cincinnati Garden where Royals games are played, said NBA president Maurice Podoloff told him he welcomes an offer from Cincinnati and “definitely wants to keep the franchise in Cincinnati.”

Fine Pitching Brings 10-4 Record, Wins in Last 5 Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Red Sox, bolstered by some excellent spring pitching performances, are “streaking” along atop the exhibition baseball standings.

With a 10-4 record, they’ve won their last five games. During that span Boston hurlers have allowed just 12 runs.

Willard Nixon, winning pitcher in the Red Sox streak, has won their last five games. During that span Boston hurlers have allowed just 12 runs.

Unfortunately, they didn’t quit and voting the next week swung away from perfection. Toledo Scott ousted Columbus North for fourth place in the hearts of the sports writers. Unbeaten Salem edged into fifth, and the Bears had to settle for sixth spot, with only 155 points.

Regrettably, the sports writers did not fare so well with the Class A crop. Final poll in that division (filed Feb. 18) listed Glenford as the odds-on favorite, and of the future tournament teams placed only Dixie, semi-final loser to Northwestern-Holmes, in the top bracket.

Miami Trace Schools Plan 8th Year Tests

State sponsored eighth year tests will be given to approximately 160 Miami Trace students on Friday, April 18. County Superintendent W. J. Hiltz announced today.

The tests will be administered in the four high school centers—Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg, Good Hope and Madison Mills. All other eighth graders will be assigned to one of these centers for the tests, and examining teachers will be "exchanged" among the four schools.

"Place certificates" will be awarded to the top 10 students and others in the upper 25 percent will get honorable mention awards.

The tests provide a comprehensive review of eighth grade work and cover mathematics, English, science, history and current events. Results of the tests count one-fourth in second semester grading and furnish a record of pupil achievement as well as a guide in the selection of high school courses.

DiSalle Urges Campaign For New Ohio Industry

"A concerted statewide effort to bring in new industry: that is what Ohio needs and what it could expect from my administration."

Those were the words of Michael V. DiSalle, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told a group of Fayette County friends and party leaders at dinner in the Hotel Washington Thursday night.

Some 30 pounds lighter than two years ago, and lacking the familiar DiSalle mustache, the ex-mayor of Toledo told the group that "the whole state must work together to fulfill the general need for new industry to provide better jobs and share increasing tax burdens."

"Washington C. H. should have to fight Chillicothe for industry; both should band together with the rest of the state and fight for each other," DiSalle declared.

"Industry doesn't want to centralize; the smaller cities will get their share with ease," he said, adding: "But each of us, working separately, can do very little."

DiSalle said the O'Neill administration has been "very laggard" in promoting Ohio industry. He declared:

"If elected I will call a town meeting in Columbus inviting all community leaders experienced and interested in industrial development, business and labor leaders, manufacturers interested in expansion, utility and railroad development specialists, and representatives of our universities and research organizations to locate branch plants or expansion of existing plants in Ohio."

DiSalle said he would like the group's advice on formation of a state development credit corporation to help finance expansion of new and small businesses where the growth potential is substantial but the risk too great for one bank to assume by itself.

Still speaking of industry, DiSalle said "I wouldn't like to see the right-to-work law on the ballot this fall."

"It would get involved with the campaign, and draw attention from more important issues," the candidate said. He added:

"Anyhow, it's the sort of matter that ought to be dealt with by the Legislature. For who knows? Perhaps next year, labor will support a bill asking a $2-an-hour minimum wage. If they took that to the people, I wouldn't be at all surprised but what it would pass."

Warily referring to Fayette County's Republican record, he added: "For loyalty, if nothing else."

ASKED WHY the right-to-work law hasn't been dealt with by the

HE ALSO commented on the location of a new state agricultural experiment station in South Charleston, just beyond the Fayette County borders. He noted that Fayette County is the largest hog producer in the state and said "you people certainly deserved it."
